What is this within my being Picking, ticking evermore, he the sound of fairy footfalls, Dropping on some distant shore? I can hear it in the midnight, Hear it in the busy day, Hear its clear and measured numb Wheresoe'er I chance to stray.

On that mystic little dial There are clear and telling lines, Over which the sunlight glitters, And the passing hour defines, Quicker, quicker it is beating, Swifter move those mystic hands, With their lenn and spectral fingers Pointing to the shadowy lands,

But the day of life is waning, Soon its shadows will decline, And within my spirits dwelling Cease the little mystic chime. ust o'er all its motions falling, Gathers dearer day by day, oices, from the future calling. seem to beckon me away.

Thrilling tales this clock is telling.

As the days and hours recede,

Noting every thought and action,
Yet, we give it little heed:

Sometimes we may hear it ringing,
Loud and clear the passing hour,

Sending through the soul's deep chamber
Tones of deep mysterious power,
Yet we fold our arms and listen
To a thousand strenger sounds,
Where the Life Clock, all unheeded,
Plods its tireless, solemn rounds,

About Bees.

Keeping bees good natured, offers a pretty fair subject for ridicule; it seems rather absurd to teach a bee anything!

Neverless, it is worth while to think of it a little. Most of us know that by injudicious training, horses, cattle, dogs, etc., may be rendered extremely vicious. If there is no, perceptible analogy between these and bees, experience proves that they may be made ten times more irritable than they unturally would be.

Nature has armed them with means them with combativeness sufficient to use them when necessary. This could not be hettered. If they were powerless, to repel an enemy, there are a thousand lazy depredators, man not excepted, who would prey upon the fruits of their industry, leaving them to starve. Had it been so arranged, this industrious insect would probably have been long since extinct.

First, all quick motions, such as running, striking, etc., about them, are noticed. If our movements among them are slow, cautions, humble and respectful, we are often left to pass unmoiested, having manifested a becoming deportment. Yet the exhalations from some persons appear offensive, as they attack them much sooner than others; though I apprehend there is not so great a difference as many sup-

Whenever an attack is made, and a sting follows, the venom thus imparted to the sir, if only one, is perceived by others at some distance, who will immediately approach the scene, and more stings are likely to follow than if the first had not been.

Striking them down renders them ten times more furious. Not in the least daunted, they return to the attack. Not the least show of fear is perceived.

Even after losing their sting they obstinately refuse to desist. It is much

From Rev. Rokt. Strutten, Bristol, England.

"I only do my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal virtues of your Sarsarahlla. My daughter, aged ten, had an afflicting humor in her earages, and hair for years, which we were unable to cure until we tried your Sarsarahlla. She has been well for some months."

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and muckesteemed lady of Dennisville, Cope May Co., N. J.

"Hy daughter has suffered for a year past with a scrobloms cruption, which was very troublesome. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your Sarsararahlla, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., of the widely-known from of Gage, Marray & Co., manufacturers of clameled papers in Nashaa, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which grew constantly werse until it disagared my features and became an intolerable affiction. I tried almost everything a man could of both advice and medicine, but without any relief whatever, until I took your Sarsarahlta. It immediately made my face worse, as you told me it might for a time; but in a few weeks the new skin began to form under the blotches, and continued until my face is as amooth as anybody's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your Sarsarahlta."

From J. E. Johnston, Esq., Walerman, Ohio,
"For twelve years I had the yellow Erysipelas on my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and took hundreds of dollars worth of medicines. The ulcers were so had that the cords became visible, and the dectors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your Sarbaparella. Took two bottles, and some of your Fills Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as surybody. Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harrey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Tunchkannock Democrat, Pennsylvenia.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skiful physician applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparenteffect. For fifteen days we gearded his hand, lest with them he should tear open tile festering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the foldied of potash lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we land given the first bottle, and was well when we had finished the second. The child's exclusives, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

The French call it Soulagement. So much for its internal administration. When applied externally, it will be found a most powerful counter-irritant, instantly reddening the surface to which it is applied, and withdrawing the blood from some neighboring part, where it may be congested or heaped up, causing pain and leading to inflamation. It fulfills the indication of equalizing the circulation most effectively, and most beautifully to minds that can understand its action.

Now, we hold that, all external remedies act either in one of two ways, or combine the action of both.
